HOST CITY – BUDVA

Budva is a Montenegrin town on the Adriatic Sea, former bishopric and present Latin Catholic titular see. It has around 60,000 inhabitants, and it is the centre of Budva Municipality. The coastal area around Budva, called the Budva riviera, is the center of Montenegrin tourism, known for its well-preserved medieval walled city, sandy beaches and diverse nightlife. Budva is 2,500 years old, which makes it one of the oldest settlements on the Adriatic coast.

Extensive archaeological evidence places Budva among the oldest urban settlements of the Adriatic coast. A legend recounts that Bouthoe (Βουθόη-Vouthoe) was founded by Cadmus, the founder of Thebes, Greece, when exiled out of Thebes, finding a shelter in this place for him and his wife, goddess Harmonia.

Budva is the hometown and residence of three most successful Montenegrin boxers:

- + Nikola Sjekloća won bronze medal at the European Championships 2000 in Tampere-Finland, bronze medal at the Elite World Boxing Championships 2003 in Bangkok-Thailand;
- + Bojana Gojković won gold medal in the 50 kg category at the EUBC European Junior Boxing Championships 2018 in Anapa-Russia, gold medal in the 52 kg category at the EUBC European Junior Boxing Championships 2019 in Galati-Romania, gold medal in the 57 kg category at the EUBC European Youth Boxing Championships 2020 in Budva-Montenegro, gold medal in the 57 kg category at the EUBC European Youth Boxing Championships 2021 in Budva-Montenegro, silver medal in the 54 kg category at the EUBC Elite Womens European Boxing Championships 2022, silver medal in the 54 kg category at the EUBC U22 European Boxing Championships 2023 and participant at the Olympic Games Paris 2024;

- + Tamara Radunović won bronze medal in the 70 kg category at the EUBC Elite Womens European Boxing Championships 2022;
Petar Liješević won gold medal in the 81 kg category at the EUBC European Youth Boxing Championships 2020 in Budva-Montenegro, silver medal in the 81 kg category at the AIBA World Youth Boxing Championships 2021 in Kielce-Poland, bronze medal in the 75 kg category at the EUBC European Junior Boxing Championships 2018 in Anapa-Russia and gold medal in the 86 kg category at the EUBC U22 European Boxing Championships 2023;

Old Town

The Old Town of Budva is situated on a rocky peninsula, on the southern end of Budva field. Archaeological evidence suggests that Illyrian settlement was formed on the site of the Old Town before Greek colonization of the Adriatic. While the site was permanently settled since Roman era, most of existing city walls and buildings were erected during the Venetian rule.

The entire town is encircled with defensive stone walls. The fortifications of Budva are typical of the Medieval walled cities of the Adriatic, complete with towers, embrasures, fortified city gates and a citadel. Originally, there were gates on all of the four sides of the walled city. However, sea-facing gates were closed up over the years. Today, the entire city within the walls is pedestrian-only.

The town citadel is situated on the southern tip of the city. Originally known as Castle of St Mary, fortification was continually rebuilt and expanded through Middle Ages, reaching its final form during the Austro-Hungarian rule. Ruins of the Santa Maria de Castello church, after which the entire complex was originally named, are located within the citadel.

A large public square is located to the north of the citadel, containing all of the churches of the old town - St. Ivan church (17th century), Santa Maria in Punta (840 AD), and The Holy Trinity church (1804).

XVIII Games Of The Small States Of Europe

Budva was one of the hosting city for XVIII GAMES OF THE SMALL STATES OF EUROPE 2019 organized by Montenegro Olympic Committee.

More than 1,000 athletes were expected to attend the Games of the Small European Countries, competitions from five disciplines.

Culture

Among the cultural events and establishments in the city, the annual cultural event Theatre City (Budva Grad Teatar) is of particular importance. Founded in 1987, and held in July and August every year, this festival transforms the entire Old Town into an open-air venue for a programme of theatre, musical, literary and visual art events and performances.

Another popular event in Budva was the Pjesma Mediterana ("Song of the Mediterranean"), annual pop musical festival, held in Budva from 1992 to 2010. Its format was similar to that of Sanremo Music Festival, featuring a competition of previously unreleased songs. The song contest attracted popular performers from the EX Yugoslavia region. However, the festival was cancelled in 2011 due to lack of funds, and has not been renewed since.

In 2014, the Sea Dance Festival was organized at Budva's Jaz Beach for the first time.[5] A spin-off of the popular Exit festival, Sea Dance is set to be an annual event. Jaz Beach rose to prominence as a popular concert and festival venue with The Rolling Stones concert held on 9 July 2007. The show was part of their A Bigger Bang Tour and attracted a crowd of some 35,000 spectators, twice the population of Budva town itself. Madonna staged a show attended by 47,000 spectators at the same venue on 25 September 2008, while Lenny Kravitz and Armand Van Helden performed at Jaz beach during the "Live Fest" in August 2008, along with Goran Bregović, Dino Merlin and Zdravko Čolić.

Budva Carnival is a three day long festive event in Budva, happening annually during late April or early May. It has been organized every year since 2003, and although a recent carnival, it has attracted significant regional attention. Budva, together with nearby Kotor, was host to the Federation of European Carnival Cities (FECC) World Carnival City Congress in May 2009.

Food

Montenegro's traditional cuisine comes in many delicious flavours. It ranges from garlicky seafood on the coast to hearty mountain fare designed to keep hard-working farmers going. Every region has its specialities.

NJEGUSI PROSCIUTTO

Njegusi village is the home of Montenegrin prosciutto. Every day tourists and locals alike take the drive up the Serpentine Road with 25 hairpin turns to get their fix of Njegusi prosciutto in Njegusi village. The climate and altitude combine to create the perfect conditions for making prosciutto here. Whole pig hind legs are packed in salt for three weeks, then they're hung to dry for three more weeks.

The final touch is four months of smoking, during which the fire has to be constantly burning and tended to. The prized result is sliced thinly and served with local cheese or cooked with cabbage.

NJEGUSKI STEAK

Former Yugoslav president Tito's private chef, Milovan Stojanovic, received a world championship gold medal for his dish, Njeguski Steak in 1986. One bite and it's obvious why this has become a Montenegrin classic.

The steak is made of a veal or pork schnitzel filled with Njegusi prosciutto and cheese. The best ones come with a generous dollop of melting kajmak, a local cream cheese.

Milovan's other version is the Karadjordjeva Schnitzel, also known as 'maiden's dream', where the filled schnitzel is rolled, breaded and fried.

BUZARA

All coastal Montenegrins grow up loving buzara. Shellfish, prawns and shrimps are cooked in either a red or white sauce. The red sauce is made with red wine, onions, tomatoes, herbs and spices.

The white sauce is considered an art form and is made with white wine. Montenegrins love nothing more than to cook up a huge pot of buzara on a summer night and invite all their friends over.

ISPOD SACA

Ispod saca is the Balkans' version of a good Sunday roast. Meat, usually veal, lamb or goat, is slow-roasted with potatoes, carrots, onions, maybe a tomato and a pinch of paprika under a metal dome covered with coals.

The finger-licking result is fall-off-the-bone tender meat and succulent vegetables. This is a must-try in Montenegro and it's the perfect end to a day of rafting in the Tara Canyon.

BLACK RISOTTO

A coastal specialty, black risotto gets its famous black colour from cuttlefish ink.

A really good black risotto also has subtle flavours of white wine, bay, garlic and nutmeg. It's a must-try while on coastal Montenegro, but watch out, black risotto also turns your teeth black!

MONTENEGRIN LAMB IN MILK

Montenegrin lamb in milk is a traditional dish that's only found in northern Montenegro. The lamb is slowly stewed in milk with potatoes, carrots, fennel, rosemary, garlic, parsley and seasoning.

Traditionally, this dish is made in a sac over coals and the meat comes out beautifully tender.

KACAMAK

Kacamak is a hearty, traditional staple from Montenegro's mountain regions. It's made by cooking cornmeal with potatoes and adding kajmak, a type of cream cheese, and serving it with soured milk. This is mountain comfort food at its best!
